Suicide is not just the loss of one life, it is something that spreads out and impacts whole families, friends and even communities. The sad thing is many or most could be prevented if resources with a voice were provided. There is no shortage of those who would testify that remarkable speaker, media personality, and mental health awareness expert Venessa Dean Abram is that voice. Venessa founded and leads the non-profit organization Self-Discovery: Pain, Positioning and Purpose, Inc, and has used the position to educate and inspire around Suicide Prevention and putting an end to Bullying. While the subject may be a dark one, Venessa realizes it is critical to shed light on it in detail, and in positive behaviors. This Event is set to go down on November 2, 2019 in Atlanta, where she recently announced she will be holding a special “Taking Off the Mask” Fundraising Fashion Show to Stop Suicide where suicide survivors, those with mental health diagnosis and caring others will be models in support of this epidemic. The event is timed to link with the end of the 2019 “Taking Off the Mask” tour, which has been an amazing success.

“Suicide education and prevention is something every family and every person in our communities should take seriously and be knowledgeable about,” commented the passionate activist. “Our Fashion Show is going to be amazing and I am sure not only will we raise much-needed funds but the positive impact it will have on both models and guests, will be priceless.”

“Taking off the Mask: Atlanta Fundraising Fashion Show to Stop Suicide” is scheduled for November 2, 2019 at the Pickneyville Park Community Center. Registering and purchasing tickets in advance is highly recommended. Tickets are $35 when ordered online or $45 at the door.
